Speaking and Listening Intent and Implementation

Why do we teach speaking and listening?

The National Curriculum for English reflects the importance of spoken language in pupils' development across the whole curriculum – cognitively, socially and linguistically.

Spoken language underpins the development of reading and writing. The quality and variety of language that pupils hear and speak are vital for developing their vocabulary and grammar and their understanding for reading and writing.

At Shinfield, we will therefore ensure the continual development of pupils' confidence and competence in spoken language and listening skills. All pupils should be enabled to participate in and gain knowledge, skills and understanding associated with the artistic practice of drama. Pupils should be able to adopt, create and sustain a range of roles, responding appropriately to others in role. They should have opportunities to improvise, devise and script drama for one another and a range of audiences, as well as to rehearse, refine, share and respond thoughtfully to drama and theatre performances.

What is our curriculum aim?

- Build confidence and self-esteem
- Create community
- Improve social skills
- Develop vocabulary
- Generate enthusiasm
- Allow pupils to reason and challenge others' opinions and understanding
- Strengthen authorial voice in writing
- Strengthen use of Standard English in spoken and written language
- Allow pupils to play with language and rehearse ideas
- Enable children to articulate their mathematical fluency, reasoning and problem-solving ideas confidently
- Allow children to demonstrate their scientific understanding – hypothesising and speculating
- Provides children with a frame to express their opinions, supporting them with evidence, across the curriculum

Speaking and Listening Intent and Implementation

How is Speaking and Listening taught at Shinfield Infant and Nursery School?

In our school we create ground rules for oracy in the classroom at the beginning of the school year and talk about the qualities of a good speaker and a good listener. Across our curriculum we might build in oracy games into lesson starters. Within our subject lesson planning we identify opportunities for teaching and rehearsing oracy skills in lessons across a range of curriculum areas.

We plan for pair and group speaking opportunities often in the form of group challenge activities or paired tasks across the curriculum. The table below gives more detail of the speaking and listening opportunities in the different curriculum subjects.

Maths	reasoning, justifying statements, speculating, proving solutions and mathematical facts, clarifying and explaining, using talk to negotiate a solution Using stem sentences to explain thinking
English	Standard English performance - presentation role play (drama) – investigating character and plot discussing and generating vocabulary, orally rehearsing sentences prior to writing
Science	hypothesising, asking questions for investigation, challenging/debating others' viewpoints to reach a hypothesis building technical vocabulary
History/Geography	demonstrating empathy with people involved in historic events performance and presentation of information learned drawing ideas together across a whole topic in geography
RE/PSHE	responding appropriately to the views of others, building on and challenging the views of others, presenting own ideas to a variety of audiences, analysing and considering the impact of non-verbal gestures

Children in all classes are encouraged to think, pair and share ideas. Talk partners are used across lessons to allow pupils to share ideas with an audience. Children are also encouraged to share ideas in whole school assemblies

Across the school children are given opportunities to perform to Parents. These are at the following times of the year:

- Nursery- Christmas and Summer Term Reception – Christmas Production
- Year 1 – Class assemblies in the Spring Term Year 2 – End of Year production in the Summer Term

Speaking and Listening Key Concepts

Speaking and Listening Progression Map – Following Instructions

Early Learning Goal – Communication and Language – Speaking
